

"Scaling Up Health Programs in Low- and Middle- income Countries"

Institute for Global Health Policy Research (iGHP), National Center for Global Health and Medicine (NCGM), together with the Department of Global Health Policy, Graduate School of Medicine, the University of Tokyo, is delighted to announce a very special lecture by Dr. Robert Cash, Senior Lecturer on Global Health at Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health. We are certain that it will be an invaluable opportunity for the participants to learn from Dr. Cash about his extensive global health research and teaching experiences in various low- and middle- income countries. We are also planning a casual dinner with Dr. Cash at a near-by restaurant after the lecture.

Date & Time	Wednesday, February 7, 2018, 16:00-17:30 (Dinner 18:00~)
Topic	"Scaling Up Health Programs in Low- and Middle- income Countries" (Tentative)
Speaker	Dr. Richard Cash (Senior Lecturer on Global Health, Department of Global Health and Population, Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health)
Venue	Ito International Research Center, Seminar Room (3rd Floor)
Access	http://www.u-tokyo.ac.jp/ext01/iirc/access.html
Language	English only (No Japanese interpretation will be available)
Admission	Free of charge and open to general public (Dinner will cost approx. JPY 5000 per person). Advance registration is required for this event.
Seating capacity	65

Dr. Cash's bio can be found here: <https://www.hsph.harvard.edu/richard-cash/>