<Purpose>

In the 2020 Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare's Health and Labour Sciences Research Grant "Study for the Establishment of Strategic and Effective Intervention Methodologies for International Conferences (20BA1002)," the research team aims to analyze the history behind current issues in global health, examine global health diplomacy trends of Japan and other nations, establish strategic intervention methodologies for Japan, and develop an effective global health diplomacy educational program. In addition, the research team aims to work with the Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare (MHLW), Ministry of Foreign Affairs (MOFA), Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA), and other global health policy organizations and research institutions overseas to develop more realistic and effective interventions, as well as educational materials and training programs. Amidst the geopolitical changes caused by the global pandemic of a novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19), there is an urgent need to cultivate human resources who can advocate for global health at the global level in harmony with international and national interests. This workshop was designed and will be implemented to help achieve such goals.

<Target audience>

The workshop is open to young and mid-level public and private sector practitioners who are planning to participate in a governing body meeting of international organizations and
